

DETAILS OF SHARING EXPERIENCES AMONG DOMESTIC EXPERTS AS PART OF DISSEMINATION

MISKOLC

The event was held in Miskolc, where the EUROPÉER Foundation's representatives, Dr. Poór József, representative of the Slovakian partner organisation, and representatives of local NGOs and social responsibility-committed organisations and firms' representatives took part. They compared the conference's presentations' focus, domestic and foreign experiences on the everyday use of project management.

The PLM's following research areas were mapped, and they agreed that project management tools and methods are applicable to our everyday lives, which needs an international online platform that assures the wide access for all age groups.

During a joint brainstorming, creating educational tales for younger audiences was mentioned, which could show children the basics of aware life management in their own language. The goal of these tales would be to induce interest in small children towards the knowledge areas of project management. Tales could show them a playful road towards aware thinking, and identification of complex correlations.

The participants of the professional event thought that project perspective thinking's effect mechanism could be closer to everyday use not only by project management tools, methods and knowledge areas, and the learning of their respective elementary knowledge. The PLM system's further advancement and the education of society towards awareness could see use in a practical guideline that uses case studies to introduce people to awareness in thinking. It would introduce everyday life situations, and offer solution alternatives to life's most often found challenges that reflect the methods of project management anyone can use, and introduce the user to key competences necessary for systematic thinking, and goal-oriented execution.

Participants also declared that they wish to cooperate long-term, and discussed opportunities and methods to do so.
